BIO:

Ian Williams is a successful trainer and coach working with people from all backgrounds and industry types, and has focused on how to bring about the concepts of self improvement for people who may be shy of formal life coaching or personal development in a way that is truly inspiring. Kairology™ is Ian's first book and is a prelude to an extensive development programme due for release in mid 2008.

Ian is an engaging speaker who creates space for people to learn easily how to become who they really are and all that they can be.
